

Passion Sunday, April 2nd 4 p.m.

The Church of St. James, Colwall

The premier of

Requiem for Aleppo

written to be performed by our church's Augmented choir, with children and talented instrumentalists from local schools.

Local composer, Liz Johnson.

Solo Viola player Adam Römer

Liz is an award-winning composer who teaches composition at Birmingham Conservatoire. She has worked with and written for notable musicians such as Roderick Williams, the Fitzwilliam and the Brodsky Quartets and Ex Cathedra Choir and her work has been performed on Radio 3.

We are greatly privileged and excited that she is now working with us and in the Village school to prepare this performance.

Liz has been moved to create the piece in sadness and hope for the children of that great city, Aleppo.

She makes a link in music with them and the people of Colwall.

Please join us for this event on April 2nd.

There is no charge but there will be a retiring collection on the day.
